Containing the freſheſt & moſt important Advices Foreign and Domeſtick.

Province of the Maſſachuſetts-Bay, Nov. 12.

On Friday the 2d Inſtant his Honor the Lieutenant-Governor was pleaſed to ſend the following Meſſage to both Houſes of Aſſembly, viz.

Gentlemen of the Council, and Houſe of Repreſentatives,

IT appears to me neceſſary that I ſhould inform you that his Majeſty's fifth Inſtruction to the Governor requires him to obſerve that in the paſſing of all Laws, the ſtile of enacting the ſame be by the Governor, Council and Houſe of Repreſentatives, and no other. This Stile has been conformed to, except perhaps in a particular Inſtance or two, for near thirty Years without the leaſt Inconvenience.

It may ſave you ſome Time and prevent Increaſe of public Charges, to let you know that I cannot upon any Terms depart from this Inſtruction. If I could be made ſenſible that it was the leaſt Damage to the Province, I would humbly repreſent it to his Majeſty.

Milton, Nov. 2. 1770. T. HUTCHINSON.

Tueſday laſt the Houſe of Repreſentatives appointed a Committee to wait on his Honor the Lieutenant-Governor with an Anſwer to the foregoing Meſſage, and the ſame was delivered, as follows,

May it pleaſe your Honor,

IN your Meſſage of the 2d Inſtant, you are pleaſed to inform the two Houſes that "His Majeſty's fifth Inſtruction to the Governor requires him to obſerve that in the paſſing of all Laws, the Stile of enacting the ſame be by the Governor, Council and Houſe of Repreſentatives, and no other." This Houſe have taken the Importance of the Meſſage into their ſerious Conſideration, and are of Opinion, that the Words in General Court aſſembled, are not merely Words of Form but of Subſtance and neceſſary to the Validity of every Act.

By the Royal Charter, the Governor and Council are veſted with ſome Powers ſeverally, and jointly with other Powers of acting for certain Purpoſes in their Departments when the General Court is not ſitting: But for the Purpoſe of making Laws and Statutes, there is no Power given, either to the Governor, Council or Houſe of Repreſentatives to act, but when they are aſſembled in General Court. No Law therefore can be valid unleſs it be enacted by the Governor, Council and Houſe of Repreſentatives when thus aſſembled; and this we apprehend muſt appear from the Parchment Rolls, wherein the Act is recorded: Otherwiſe the Record itſelf is not compleat, and it will become neceſſary to reſort to dehors Evidence to prove a Fact eſſential to the Validity of the Act, which is againſt the eſtabliſhed Rule, reſpecting Records. We are warranted in this Opinion from the invariable Uſe of the ſame Stile in all Acts of Parliament; which univerſally contain that expreſs Averment, that they were paſſed by the ſeveral Branches in Parliament aſſembled.

We cannot conceive any Reaſon why the Words ſhould be diſagreeable to his Majeſty; for we muſt ſuppoſe it to be his Pleaſure that all Acts ſhould paſs in ſuch Form, as is neceſſary to make them effectual. We find the Words, in General Court aſſembled, and by the Authority of the ſame, conſtantly and invariably uſed in the paſſing of Laws, from the Beginning of the Charter until within thirty Years paſt: If your Honor ſhould conceive that Exception was taken againſt the latter Words only, in the Clauſe, you would then conclude that it was altogether through Inadvertence, that the Inſtruction was made ſo large as to extend to the former.

This Houſe conſiders the Words to be of ſubſtance and neceſſary; and as they cannot but be of Opinion, that upon further Conſideration they will ſo appear to your Honor, they hope you will think yourſelf at Liberty to admit them in the Paſſing of the Bills to be laid before you; by which Means Time may be ſaved, and an Increaſe of publick Charges prevented. ‡

WILLIAMSBURG, October 18.

On Monday the 15th Inſt. about one o'clock in the Morning, departed this Life, univerſally lamented throughout this Colony, his Excellency the Right Honourable NORBORNE Baron de BOTETOURT, his Majeſty's Lieutenant, Governor General and Commander in Chief of the Colony and Dominion of Virginia, and Vice-Admiral of the ſame.

Truly and juſtly to expreſs the many great Virtues and amiable Qualities which adorn'd this noble Lord, as well in his public as prvate Character, would demand the Skill of the ableſt Penman. Suffice it then to inform ſuch Parts of the World as were Strangers to his tranſcendent Merits, that Virginia, in his Fall, ſorely laments the beſt of Governors, and the beſt of Men. Let his diſtant Relations and Friends, be told that we have all anticipated, and ſhall, to the lateſt Period, ſhare their Griefs and Afflictions; and that we condole with them, with the Warmth of the moſt tender Affection.

The Government devolves on the Hon. WILLIAM NELSON, Eſq; by the Reſignation of the Hon. JOHN BLAIR, Eſq;

Friday, October 19. This being the day appointed for interring the remains of our late beloved Governor, at one o'clock the Church, College, and Capitol bells, began tolling; and the company repaired to the Palace, according to invitation, preciſely at two. At three, the corpſe being placed on the hearſe, the proceſſion began to move in the following order, to the church, both ſides of Palace-ſtreet being lined with the city militia, and thoſe of York and James city counties.

The HEARSE,
Preceded by two mutes, and three on each ſide the hearſe,
Outward of whom walked the pall bearers,
Compoſed of ſix of his Majeſty's Council,
And the Hon. the Speaker, and Richard Bland, Eſq;
Of the Houſe of Burgeſſes.
His Excellency's ſervants, in deep mourning.
The Gentlemen of the Clergy, and
Profeſſors of the College.
Clerk of the church, and Orgainiſt.
Immediately followed the hearſe the Chief Mourners.
Gentlemen of the Faculty.
Mayor, Recorder, Alderman, and
Common Council, of the city,
With the mace born before them.
Gentlemen of the Law, and Clerk of the General Court.
Uſhers, Students, and Scholars, of William and Mary College,
All having white hatbands and gloves.
And then the company, which was very numerous,
Two and two.

At the weſtern gate the corpſe was removed from the hearſe, and, carried by eight bearers, the Gentlemen appointed ſupporting the pall, placed in the centre of the church, on a carpet of black. The altar, pulpit, and his Excellency's ſeat, were likewiſe hung with black. Then the ſervice began; and an anthem, accompanied by the organ, was ſung, conducted by Mr. Woolls. The Rev. and Hon. the Commiſſary then delivered a diſcourſe, from Pſalm xlii. part of the 7th verſe, Put thy truſt in God; which joined to the deep affliction felt by the whole audience for the loſs of ſuch an excellent man, and ſo good a Governor, drew tears from many. Sermon being ended, the corpſe was again placed on the hearſe, and the company moved in the ſame order to the College, entering at the front gate, and ſo proceeding through the College, entering the chapel, where the corpſe was depoſited in a vault, the militia firing three vollies at the interrment. The coffin was of lead, with a cover of crimſon velvet, adorned with ſilver handles, and a large ſilver plate, on which was this inſcription:

NORBORNE Baron de BOTETOURT,
Ob. xv Oct. MDCCLXX.
Ætat. LIII.

His Majeſty's Council, and the Gentlemen of the General Court, have gone into deep mourning for Lord Botetcurt; and we are well informed that moſt of the principal Gentlemen in the colony will do the ſame, in ſuch general eſteem was his Lordſhip, and ſo univerſally lamented.

An old ſervant of Lord Botetourt's, who had lived between ſix and ſeven and twenty years in his family, died at three o'clock of the ſame morning with his Lordſhip.

Philadelphia, Octob. 29. 1770.

The Hon. John Foxcroft, Eſq; one of the D. Poſtmaſters General of the Northern Diſtrict of America, with his Lady, and Joſeph Reade, Eſq; of Trenton, and his Lady (a Daughter of the late Dennys DeBerdt, Eſq; the worthy and faithful Agent of the Province of Maſſachuſetts-Bay) are ſafe arrived here, with Capt. Oſborne, from London, to the great Joy of their numerous Friends.

In the ſame Ship nine Capital Workmen are arrived for the China Factory now carrying on in this City.

Extract of a Letter from a Gentleman in London, to his Friend in New-England, dated Aug. 1, 1770.

"I got from Scotland, a Narrative of Mr. Robert Sandeman's being brought before the Magiſtrate (in Danbury) with his Collegue, &c. as Vagrants; but have nor heard whether they proceeded any further than ſentencing them to pay a Fine. This Act of the Magiſtracy has been obſerved here as a proof of the Hypocriſy of the American pretence of zeal for Liberty. However, it accords well with Voltair's account of the Engliſh idea of Liberty. As I remember, 'tis thus; every man deſires leave to do as he pleaſes. Alſo, every other man deſires power to hinder any other man from doing as he pleaſes. However, we need not complain of the world, bad as it is; it may ſerve well enough for the time we have to do with it, nor need we fear getting thro' it, for no body ever ſticks by the way. If we can be content without its favours, we may be happy in ſpite of it."

On the 8th Instant his Honor the Lieutenant Governor sent the following Message to the House of Representatives, viz.

Gentlemen of the House of Representatives,

IN your Message to me of the 6th Instant you have declared yourselves of opinion that the words in General Court assembled are not meerly words of form in our Laws, but of substance and necessary to the validity of every Act.

If your opinion had been well founded I should have thought it surprising as well as unfortunate, that such a discovery should, during thirty years together, have escaped the Members of the several General Assembles, all the Gentlemen of the Law concerned in our executive Courts, and all the Inhabitants of the Province in general. But it appears to me that there is not the least foundation for your opinion. The stile, of a Law which expresses the Governor, Council and House of Representatives, expresses that authority which, by Charter, hath power to make Laws, and the same reason which you urge, for adding the words in General Court assembled, will hold as well for further adding —by the King's Writ—under the Province Seal—signed by the Governor—issued thirty Days before the convening, together with all the other requisites for forming a constitutional General Court; for in all these cases, if the facts do not appear upon the Roll, it may be as necessary to make use of dehors evidence as in the case when the words in General Court assembled are not inserted; but I am of opinion this sort of evidence never was and probably never will be necessary in either case.

You will not be able to support your assertion that Acts of Parliament universally contain this express averment that they were passed by the several branches in Parliament assembled.

Many ancient Statutes without this clause are equally in force with modern Statutes which have the clause, and modern Acts of this Province without the clause you contend for, are equally in force with ancient Acts which have that clause.

I am not acquainted with the special Reason which induced his Majesty to restrain the Governor from consenting to an Act with this clause in it. Perhaps it was meerly because it is unnecessary and redundant. Be it as it may, I cannot depart from my Instruction nor make my humble application that it may be withdrawn, unless I could see that it is an abridgment of your rights or tended to subject the Province to inconvenience.

I cannot help, as you have given me occasion for it, putting you in mind that you are now in the seventh week of the session, and that scarce any of the public business is yet compleated. I doubt not the House, in general, wish to return to their private affairs and, I have reason to think your constituents in all parts of the Province wish to see all obstructions to your giving greater dispatch removed. I must therefore repeat my recommendation to you, that in concurrence with the Council, who I am very sure are disposed to do their part, you will prepare the Business now before the Court to be laid before me, that the Session may be brought to an end as soon as possible.

Cambridge, 8th November, 1770. T. Hutchinson.

We hear that this Message was soon after followed by a Message from the Honorable House of Representatives to the Honorable Board, desiring that all Bills lying before the Board, and not passed on, might be sent down to the House; and that sundry Bills were accordingly sent down, and the Words to which his Honor took exception were taken out; and that the House now proceed to the passing such Bills as come before them without the said Words.

LONDON.

Aug. 31. The Merchants at New-York have, it is said, already remitted bills for their late orders, which is the reason so much expedition is used in shipping their goods.

The Merchants of North Carolina, it is said, have agreed to follow the example of New-York, in the importation of goods from Great-Britain.

Letters from Boston, dated about the middle of July, give an account of a roit there on the determination for the importation of goods from England; those that were against the said importation were handsomely drubbed by those that were for it. Upwards of 800 were for the importation, and not 400 against it. a Lie!

Mr. Pitt, of the Middle Temple, a relation of Lord Chatham, is nominated for a law department in America.

Some people are of opinion, that the consent of the majority of the trading inhabitants of New York, to the free importation of British manufactures, was obtained by certain court influence, with a view to give color to the rigourous measures that are to be pursued against the Bostonians, who are now it is said, by their obstinacy, become the object of m—l revenge.

It is rumoured in the city, that a large sum of money has lately been remitted to a certain American colony.

Aug. 30. Her Majesty is again pregnant.

Letters from Birmingham mention, that one house only there had orders for fabricating military utensils to the amount of 30,000l. for the use of the Americans.

The large orders received at Bristol from New-York, has given new life to Business.

There are Letters in Town from America which say, the Americans have refused to receive any more transports from England.

Sept. 4. By the last letters transmitted from our minister at Berlin it appears, that the King of Prussia has some plan in agitation, which even his own favorites have not a correct idea of. They are intrusted with the execution of the preparatory steps; but the grand execution he reserves for himself.

It is said that a certain General Officer's tour over the continent of America, under a pretence of an excursion for his own pleasure, has been only to feel the pulse of the Colonists, to make himself a perfect master of every complaint, and to attempt, under the authority of Government, every conciliating measure that can contribute to restore a mutual good understanding.

It is asserted, that Sir William Draper, Knight of the Bath, will shortly be appointed Commander in Chief of the British Forces in North America, in the room of General Gage.

A gentleman principally concerned in filling up the upper part of the Canal and Rosamond's Pond, in St. James's Park, being the other day at a coffee-house in Pall-mall, was complaining for want of rubbish, Why then, says another gentleman, fill them up with some of the present M—y.

It is said overtures have been made to the King of Prussia from the Empress of Russia, inviting him to take a part in the war between her and the Grand Signior; for which service a large sum of money is proposed to be paid, and some territories annexed.

It is asserted, that a late governor in America will be honoured with a ribband.

Betts of 100l. to 50l. are laid, that the spice island of Ceylon will be in the hands of the English before Christmas, 1771, unless a rupture should break out between Great-Britain and the States General.

The Captains Sparks and Osborn, from London, have brought no goods, except such as are allowed of by our late agreement, but have, on the contrary, brought near £.10,000 in CASH, the property of persons in this city; this being some of the golden fruits of the Non-importation, it is hoped that the people of this continent will so far see their interest as to manufacture whatever lays in their power, so that instead of sending millions to maintain our task masters in England, we may receive thousands from thence.

New-York, Nov. 5. 1770.

Capt. Eccleston sailed from Liverpool in company with a ship, snow and brig, for this port, mostly loaded with dry goods; and we have reason to expect in a few days the arrival of 20 sail more, from the ports of London, Bristol, Liverpool and Hull, with different sorts of European goods also.

Last Thursday arrived the Brig Leviathan, Capt. Jenkins, in 8 Weeks from London.

Extract of a Letter from London.

"The Fire at Portsmouth was probably the Deed of some worthless Workmen about the Yard, not of the French. There is not the smallest appearance of a War with them, or any other Power. All you have seen in the Papers about a Change in the Ministry, is absolutely without Foundation: No application has been, nor is intended to be, made to Lord Chatham; and Lord Northington came to Town, purely because he was tired of the Country. All these Paragraphs are artfully published, to impress People at a distance with a notion of the instability of our Councils, and are well calculated to keep up a Spirit of discontent."

NEWBERN, North-Carolina, October 5.

On Wednesday a special messenger arrived in town from Grenville county, with an account of a violent insurrection having broke out in Orange County, among a sett of men who call themselves Regulators, and who for some years past have given infinite disturbance to the civil government of this province, but now have sapped its whole foundation, brought its courts of justice to their own controul, leaped the strong barrier of private property, and audaciously violated the laws of God and Man.

The people have for a long time opposed paying all manner of taxes, have entertained the vilest opinion of the gentlemen of the law, and often threatened them with their vengeance. Accordingly, as the Hon. Judge Henderson, and several gentlemen of the law, were returning from Salisbury circuit to Hillsborough, in order to hold the court there, they were waylayed by a number of them with their rifles; but happily having notice of their hellish design, by taking a contrary rout, eluded their bloody plot. They still gave out their threats of meeting them at Hillsborough, and wreaking their vengeance on them there.

These menaces were treated with contempt, as rather the violent ravings of a factious and discontented mob, than any settled and fixed resolution of men of property to commit so daring an insult to the laws of the country, and accordingly the court was opened, and proceeded to business: But on Monday, the second day of the court, the tragical scene began; a very large number of those people, headed by men of considerable property, appeared in Hillsborough, with clubs, whips, loaded at the ends with lead or iron (a stroke from which would level the strongest man) and many other offensive weapons, and at once beset the court-house. The first object of their revenge was Mr. John Williams, a gentleman of the law, who they assaulted as he was entering the court; him they cruelly abused with many and violent blows with their loaded whips on the head and different parts of his body, until he by great good fortune made his escape, and took shelter in a neighbouring store. They then entered the court-house and immediately fixed their attention on Col. Fanning, as the next object of their merciless cruelty; he expected his fate, and had retired to the judges seat, as the highest part of the court house, from which he might make the greatest defence against these blood thirsty and cruel savages; but, poor gentleman, vain were all his efforts, for after behaving with the most heroic courage, he fell a sacrifice to numbers, and suffered a cruelty the richest language can but faintly paint: They seized him by the heels, dragged him down the steps, his head striking violently on every step, carried him to the door, and forcing him out, dragged him on the ground over stones & brick-bats, struck him with their whips and clubs, kicked him, spit and spurned at him, and treated him with every possible mark of contempt and cruelty; till at length, by a violent effort of strength and activity, he rescued himself from their merciless claws, and took shelter in a house; the vultures pursued him there, and gave him a stroke that will probably destroy one of his eyes: In this piteous & grievously maimed condition they left him for a while, retreated to the court-house, knocked down and very cruelly treated the deputy clerk of the Crown, ascended the bench, shook their whips over judge Henderson, told him his turn was next, ordered him to pursue Business, but in the manner they should prescribe, which was, that no lawyers should enter the court-house, no juries but what they should pack, & order new trials in cases where some of them had been cast for their mal practices. They then seized Mr. Hooper, a gentleman of the law, dragged & paraded him through the streets, & treated him with every mark of contempt and insult. Thus closed the first day.

But the second day presented a scene still more tragic; immediately on their discovering that the Judge had made his escape, and refused to submit to the dictates of these lawless & desperate men, they marched in a body to Col. Fanning's house, entered the same, and destroyed every piece of furniture in it, ript open the beds & threw all his china & glass into the street, scattered all his papers and books in the winds, seized all his plate and cash, entered his cellar, and after satiating their savage stomachs with his liquors, stove the remainder; being now drunk with rage, liquor and lawless fury, they took his wearing cloaths, stuck them on a pole, paraded them thro' the streets, and to close the scene, pulled down & laid his house in ruins. They then went to a large church bell that Col. Fanning, at the expence of 70l. had made a present of to the church at Hillsborough, and split it to pieces, and were at the point of pulling down the church, but the leaders thinking it betrayed their religious principles restrained them. Their revenge not being yet satiated on this unhappy gentleman, they again pursued him, and again cruelly beat him, and at length with dogs hunted him out of town, & with savage cruelty stoned him as he fled.

When they had fully glutted their revenge on the lawyers, to shew their opinion of courts of justice, they took from his chains a Negro that had been executed some time, and placed him at the lawyer's bar, and filled the judge's seat with human excrement, in derision and contempt of the characters that fill those respectable places. ¶ ☞
